Question re holding a Civil Service Exam next year

General and Revenue Secretariat.

C.B. File No. 116 of 1923.

Serial No.

The latest order fixing the cadre of Assistant Commissioners in the Civil Service is dated the 31st March 1922. According to this order the permanent sanctioned cadre consists of 76 officers, viz.,

Secretariat, ...	6
Sub Division Officers, ...	17
Per. Asstts. to Dy. Commissioners,	2
Treasury Assistants, ...	7
Assistants to Revenue Commissioner,	2
Excise Department, ...	3
Survey and Settlement, (this is exclusive of one temporary)	5
P o l i c e	10
Judicial, ...	10
Accounts Department, ...	5
Special appointments, ...	7

Since then there have been certain changes. The following reductions have been made:-

Secretariat (including one Asstt. Secretary with Dewan)	2
Revenue Sub Divisions, ...	1
Assistant to Revenue Commissioner,	(1)
~~Special appointments~~, ...	-1 x

(x ~~Note. This is the net result of (a)~~ the number of Assistant Secretaries to H.H. the Maharaja being reduced by one; (b) the appointment of Special Income tax officer ~~being~~ taken out of the cadre of Assistant Commissioners and (c) per contra the inclusion of the post of the Secretary to the Economic Development Board in the cadre).

Thus the cadre stands at ~~71~~ 69 of which 4 appointments ~~are~~ were not to be filled up till the scheme of separation of judicial and executive functions ~~is~~ was fully brought into effect. The effective cadre is therefore 67 appointments, (plus one temporary in the Survey Department).

These ~~67~~ 66 appointments are filled up by 50 permanent Assistant Commissioners, 14 provisionally permanent, sub pro tem and acting Assistant Commissioners and ~~three~~ four others. Leaving out recent retirements

NOTE—Contn. sheet.

Serial No.

~~casualties~~, the total number of permanent Assistant Commissioners is ~~77~~ 70 74 73. So there is an excess of ~~11~~ 7 6 four over the sanctioned cadre and it may appear that there is no scope at present for further recruitment to the Civil Service. But, of the ~~77~~ 70 74 73 permanent Assistant Commissioners, only ~~50~~ 45 46 are holding permanent charges of Assistant Commissioners as mentioned above one is an extra Assistant to the Revenue Commissioner temporarily sanctioned (and likely to have to be made permanent), four ~~are~~ 2 × on leave preparatory to retirement and ~~22~~ 24 25 × are on other duties (of which it is quite safe to calculate that 11 ~~are~~ 13 12 of a permanent nature. The excess in the sanctioned cadre is only in name and as a matter of fact as many as ~~27~~ 20 5 places to be filled up by Assistant Commissioners are held by provisionally permanent, sub pro tem and acting Assistant Commissioners and others. Leaving out of consideration ~~4~~ 2 Assistant Commissioners who are on leave preparatory to retirement there are ~~73~~ 72 71 permanent Assistant Commissioners as against 67 permanent posts and ~~12~~ 13 12 (including a second Assistant to the Revenue Commissioner) other posts of a more or less permanent nature. Thus for considering the question of recruitment it may be stated that against 79 posts - - there are ~~73~~ 72 71 permanent officers. This gives 6 vacancies.

Up to the end of 1925, 6 officers in the general line of the permanent rank of Deputy Commissioners and above attain the age of superannuation and in the list of Assistant Commissioners there are 7 (excludi the four already on leave preparatory to retirement) who will similarly attain the age of superannuation. Thus vacancies due to retirements may be taken to be 13. Of the officers in the Civil Service, two have been selected for training in the Railway Audit Department and it is probable that at least one of them will become a permanent addition to the cadre of the Railway Audit office, vice a temporary officer now given. The total number of vacancies to be provided for will therefore be 6 plus 13 plus 1 or 20. (Vacancies due to the extension of the scheme of separation of Judicial and Executive functions are left out of consideration here, as there may be some further reduction in the cadre of Assistant Commissioners consequent on the revision of the Civil Service rules in the direction of throwing open more places to the subordinate (Police) and other services)

The first claim for confirmation has to be given to the 8 provisionally permanent Assistant Commissioners. All of these have been holding this position for three years and more, and they are also earning increments. Two of these however are likely to retire by the end of 1925. After absorbing six provisionally permanent Assistant Commissioners there will be 14 vacancies to be filled up. There are 7 acting Assistant Commissioners at present. Assuming that all of these are considered eligible for confirmation in due course there will still be 7 more vacancies to be filled up.

NOTE—Contn. sheet.

the list of Amildars for making selections to the grade of Assistant Commissioners. Leaving three places more for further selections to this grade fro the subordinate service there will still be four -- places which may be filled up by direct recruitment. (The above calculations have been made without taking credit for certain long term vacancies, such as, those of two officers in the Bhdravati Iron Works, or Personal Assistant to the Chief Commandant).

The best of our young men are going away to the British Indian and other services and the drain in this way is a serious matter. In order to maintain the calibre of the Civil Service also, it is very necessary to hold a competetive examination for recruitment to the Civil Service next year. If two men are selected on the merits of the examination and two are nominated, they will, after completing the period of probation become available only in January 1926.

It is therefore suggested that provision may be made in the budget estimates of the next year for holding a Civil Service examination. Receipts, say Rs.4,000 and expenditure Rs.11,000, or net expenditure Rs.7,000.

The calculations made above show that there is need for appointing capable young men to the Civil Service to fill up vacancies likely to occur in the near future. The calculations, however, are partly based upon the demands of other departments which have not been taken into account in fixing the present cadre but which require the services of members of the Civil Service. It is desirable to calculate definitely how many places in other departments have necessarily to be manned by members of this Service. If this Service should be the recog recruiting ground for supply of officers to other departments, the only right course to adopt is to take this demand also into account and fix a total cadre which will meet the requirements of all departments to which members of the Civil Service have to be drafted. The total number of permanent Assistant Commissioners for supply to all departments can be correctly calculated only when such a cadre is fixed and with reference to such cadre and probabilities of vacancies questions relating to fresh recruitments can be settled. I would, therefore, suggest the fixing of a complete cadre for the Civil Service before considering the question of the number of new men to be appointed in the near future for filling up gaps likely to occur in that Service.

This is very necessary & might be taken up as a separate

I am inclined to agree with the views expressed by the Finl Secy in his note of 11.5.23. The total demands on the Civil Service for its officers should, I think, be determined before the question of the next examination is considered. The policy of the new Govt have changed from time to time and the exact position is not clearly known. Expediency has been a very prominent factor & it seems to me that this is not a safe one to depend upon. To my mind the case requires much further consideration before a decision is come to.

I am strongly of opinion that a Civil Service examination should be held at as early date and that steps should be taken to lay before Govts & our Universities the Govt scheme. If the examination is dispensed, the Service will immediately deteriorate and we may find it difficult to secure the services of suitable Candidates for the Secretariat.

Holding of the Mysore Civil Service Examination in 1924.

OPINION OF THE COUNCIL.

The Council are of opinion that it has now become necessary to take steps for the recruitment by open competition and nomination combined of at least four men for the Mysore Civil Service and an examination for the purpose may be held in October 1924. The examination may also be availed of for the selection of one other candidate by competition who may stand next in order of merit to the two selected for the Civil Service, and likewise another candidate may be selected by nomination at the same time,-- these two being for recruitment to any other Department such as Civil Accounts, Survey, Police etc. on the understanding that they will not be put in the Civil Service Grade or entitled to the prospects of the Civil Service.

In the result the total number to be recruited by examination will be 3, viz., 2 for the Civil Service and 1 for Miscellaneous Departments and the number of those to be recruited by nomination will also be 3, viz., 2 for the Civil Service and 1 for Miscellaneous Departments.

The proposal contained in the Council Resolution is that an examination for recruitment to the Civil Service should be held in October 1924. If this is done the results may probably be published by the end of the year 1924 and the officers so recruited may be expected to join duty at the beginning of 1925. Their probationary period under the existing rules would expire at the end of 1926 and in considering the necessity for holding an examination, we have to see - - - whether a sufficient number of permanent vacancies will occur by the end of 1926. The number proposed to be recruited by competition is 2 and an equal number is proposed to be appointed by nomination. The total number will thus be 4.

I have revised the statement previously put up so as to indicate the position as on the 24th October 1923. According to this the total number of permanent vacancies that will occur by the end of 1926 (after absorbing all the P.P, S.P.T + ag. Asst. Cmrs.) will be 87.

The necessity for the examination can be made out in another way. The total number of appointments filled up by Assistant Commissioners is 95, comprising 67 appointments belonging to the cadre 1 temporary appointment and 24 special appointments filled up by Assistant Commissioners and 3 excess appointments on account of leave vacancies. Of the incumbents to fill up these appointments 71 are permanent, 19 are provisionally permanent or acting and 4 others who do not belong to the Civil Service cadre. The last mentioned 4 appointments relate to the Civil Service cadre proper and they are available for being filled up by Assistant Commissioners. From the statement of officers who will be superannuated by the end of 1926, it will be seen that on the basis of the existing conditions 14 fresh appointments will have to be made by the end of 1926. The total number of Assistant Commissioners that can be appointed up to the end of 1926 is 18, 14 to fill up vacancies due to superannuation and 4 appointments now filled up by others but which if Government choose may be filled up by appointments to the Civil Service It is no doubt true that all those vacancies that will occur are not permanent but on a conservative estimate it may be assumed that at least 50 per cent of these appointments will eventually become permanent.

(one of 67 belonging to the cadre is in Survey Dept.).

NOTE—Contn. sheet.

The Financial Secretary's opinion is that the question of holding an examination may be deferred until the number to be added to the permanent cadre of the Civil Service on account of appointments in other departments which Government consider should be filled up by Assistant Commissioners is definitely settled. The circumstances that have rendered it very necessary for holding an examination at an early date are:--

(1) that it has been found necessary to go very low down in the subordinate grades to find

NOTE—Contn. sheet.

suitable candidates for appointment to the Civil service and

(2) that it is necessary to find opportunities of entering the Civil Service to brilliant graduates of our University.

As the number proposed to be recruited next year is only four and as by the time these candidates become eligible for confirmation 14 vacancies will occur, there does not appear to be. any risk in holding this examination.

The question of determining the number that can be added to the permanent cadre of the Civil Service on account of special appointments which Government consider should be filled up by Assistant Commissioners may be taken up separately. It will take some time to decide this question. The postponement of the decision on the question of holding an examination will prevent the solution of the existing difficulty in making the appointments to the Civil Service.

Submitted to His Highness.

The last competitive examination to recruit men for the Mysore Civil Service was held in 1919, that is four years ago, when 5 men were appointed from the open list and 5 nominated. Since then, owing to the general complaint about the large number in the cadre and also reductions effected in the several orders relating to retrenchments,

Sub Division Officers:	4,
Personal Assistants to Deputy Commissioners: ..	2,
Assistant Secretaries in the General and Revenue Secretariat (including 2 posts which have been reserved for Superintendents)	6,
District Excise Officers ..	2,
District Treasury Officer, Bangalore,	1,
Civil Officer, Bangalore ..	1,
Superintendent of Police, Railways and C.I.D. ...	1,
Special Income-tax Collector ..	1,
Assistant Secretary to His Highness the Maharaja ..	1.
Total ..	19.

as noted in the margin, Government did not continue the policy of recruitment according to rules laid down. Attention is invited to my Final Note of 18th December 1920 submitting the resolution of the Council on the subject, which ran as follows:-

> In view of retrenchments that are in contemplation which may reduce the number of Assistant Commissioners and in order to cut down expenditure, the Civil Service Examination need not be held in 1921 but may be deferred by one or two years.

It is now nearly three years since this decision was passed.

The necessity for holding an examination for recruitment to the Mysore Civil Service has been forced on the attention of Government for some time past, by the difficulty that has been experienced in finding suitable candidates, for appointment to the grade of Assistant Commissioners. Within the past six months no less than six Amildars have been promoted as acting Assistant Commissioners, and Government have already had to go very low in the grade of Amildars to find suitable candidates. In view of this as well as of the advisability of affording suitable openings to the most brilliant men passing out of the Mysore University University, the question of holding an examination for selecting candidates for appointment to the Mysore Civil Service was considered in Council on the 13th September 1923, when the following Resolution was passed.

Has J.

The Council are of opinion that it has now become necessary to take steps for the recruitment, by open competition and nomination combined, of at least four men for the Mysore Civil Service and an examination for the purpose may be held in October 1924. The examination may also be availed of, for the selection of one other candidate by competition, who may stand next in order of merit to the two selected for the Civil Service, and likewise, another candidate may be selected by nomination at the same time, these two being for recruitment to any other Department such as Civil Accounts, Survey, Police, etc., on the understanding that they will not be put in the Civil Service grade, or entitled to the prospects of the Civil Service.

In the result the total number to be recruited by examination will be 3, viz., 2 for the Civil Service and 1 for Miscellaneous Departments, and the number of those to be recruited by nomination will also be 3, viz., 2 for the Civil Service and 1 for Miscellaneous Departments.

The examination now proposed to be held is slightly different from those that have been held in the past, in that it is proposed to be made use of not only for selecting candidates for the Mysore Civil Service, but also for appointments in other departments such as Accounts, Survey, Police, etc. The recruits appointed to the latter departments will not be put in the Civil Service Grade, nor will they be entitled to the prospects of the men in the Civil Service. This arrangement is based on the analogy of the Civil Service Examination in England, where candidates for appointment in the Home Civil Service, the Indian Civil Service, the Colonial Civil Service and the Eastern Cadetships are chosen on the results of a combined examination. Candidates sitting for the examination are allowed to choose their departments according to their order of merit in the Examination. The advantages of the proposed arrangement are that the competition method of recruiting candidates to the Public Service, which long experience has proved to be satisfactory, will be applied to a certain extent to other services also.

Pages 5 + 10 of Mins. Vol.

The Financial Secretary has noted that the number of new recruits to be taken by competition and nomination should be settled settled after the strength of the cadre of Assistant Commissioners, as it should be for meeting all demands on it, is fixed, and the probable number of vacancies is calculated. This is of course quite reasonable, but the question of settling the strength of the cadre of Assistant Commissioners can be finally decided only after various questions connected with individual departments, which are now under consideration, are settled; for example, the question of the number of Assistant Commissioners required for the Excise Department is now under consideration. The number of places in the Special Magistrates' grade to be reserved for Assistant Commissioners has to be decided also. These questions are being examined and will be submitted for orders without delay, but in the meantime it is desirable to come to an early decision about the holding of an examination next year. At least one year's notice is necessary and even the determination of the aforesaid questions is not likely to prejudice the case now put up for orders, viz., the necessity to hold a competitive examination for recruitment to the Civil Service and other branches of the Administration.

C.
Page 12 to 14 of Office Note.

As explained in the Secretariat note of the 29th October 1923, it is likely that by the time the candidates now selected become eligible for confirmation, there may be as many as 14 vacancies, while the number proposed to be recruited directly is only four for the Civil Service and two for other departments. Even if the number of vacancies should be much less than now estimated, there is no likelihood of the requirements falling short of the number proposed to be now recruited directly. There have been many retirements recently and others are likely to take place soon. The senior men will be pushed up but there are fewer men now in the service in the junior ranks who have the necessary education and training to be placed in course of time in positions of responsibility. In fact, there are in all 23 men in Schedule A, recruited between the years 1907 and 1920, and some of them are in special appointments. I am going into the question of fixing definitely the cadre of the Civil Service with reference to the requirements of Revenue, Police, Judicial, Excise and other Departments, and definite proposals, which are under examination, will be submitted shortly. In the meantime, the resolution of the Council to hold the Civil Service Examination next year may be graciously approved.

2. Govt. Notifications No.1184/C.B. 170-20-1 and No.5279/C.B.182-21-1 dated 19th January 1921 and 21st February 1922 respectively notifying that no competitive examination will be held during the years 1921 and 1922 for the admission of selected candidates into the Mysore Civil Service.

Order No. 1859/C.B.116 23-1 Dated

The last competitive examination for recruitment to the Mysore Civil Service was held in the year 1919. Since then no examination was held owing to reductions effected in the cadre and the large number of men recruited in the year 1920.

2. The necessity for holding a competitive examination for recruitment to the Mysore Civil Service has been forced on the attention of Government for some time past. After taking into account the future requirements requirements due to likely vacancies even under the present reduced cadre of the service, Government find it necessary to offer two appointments for open competition in the Mysore Civil Service. They are accordingly pleased to announce that an open competitive examination will be held in October 1924 for the selection of - candidates for these two places.

3. The subjects and the dates etc., for the competitive examination will be notified in due course.

Order No.

The last competitive examination for recruitment to the Mysore Civil Service was held in the year 1919. Since then no examination was held owing to reductions effected in the cadre. All the persons recruited up to the year 1920.

2. The necessity for holding a competitive examination for recruitment to the Mysore Civil Service has been forced on the attention of Government for some time past by the difficulty that has been experienced in finding suitable candidates for appointment to the grade of Assistant Commissioners. In view of this as well as of the advisability of affording suitable openings to the most brilliant men passing out of the Mysore University, Government have decided to hold an examination open only to natives of Mysore by birth or domicile in October 1924. The candidates who secure the first two places will be appointed to the Mysore Civil Service. The third in order of merit will be appointed as a Probationer in one of the departments but he will not be placed in the Civil Service cadre nor will he be entitled to the prospects of the civil servants. At the same time, two candidates will be nominated to the Civil Service and one candidate will be nominated as a Probationer. Thus the total number to be recruited by examination and nomination will be 3 each ~~(2 for the Civil Service and 1 for miscellaneous Deptts.)~~ or ~~6 in all~~.

The ~~sub~~jects and the dates etc. for the examination will be notified in due course.
